SAGINAW, Mich., July 20.-The Grand Circuit races closed to-day with the freefor-all trot. It proved a disappointment, as Directum was very lame and, after trotting two heats, it was necessary to draw him. Azote had an easy thing in the race, winning in straight heats. In the first he made 2:08, the fastest trotting mile for Michigan, either against time or in a race. Alix and Directly were exhibited in bridle, but did not start against time. REV. COVERT LANDS TWO SPIRIT-UALISTS IN POLICE COURT.

All Protestant Churches in Anderson Have Combined to Wage War Against Sinners.

BATTLE WITH CONVICTS

WARSAW OFFICERS CAPTURE TWO DESPERATE FUGITIVES.

Josie Derringer Said to Be an Accom plice of Miss Belknap in Murdering Her Foster Father.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ANDERSON, Ind., July 20 .- The feeling at the Spiritualists' camp ground against Elder Covert is very bitter, and the elder's meeting last night had a sensational ending that resulted in bringing two of the brethren in the justice's court to-day. Elder Covert has leased a church in the immediate vicinity of the camp ground, and is waging war on all the claims of unusual phenomena of the spiritualists. As indicated in the reports of the Journal, Covert has challenged all comers and posted $500 that he can reproduce any phenomena that the mediums give. He spoke to a crowded house last night, and had explained many of the phenomena, to the intense delight of his hearers. In the audience were a number of Spiritualists from the camp. At the close of the meeting medium Smith, of Muncie, arose and filed a protest against the charge of Covert that "all mediums were either liars, knaves or ignoramuses." could do. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ANDERSON, Ind., July 20 .- Anderson is in the midst of a tidal wave of religious entiment, and its effect is noticeable even in the business circles of the city. One week ago Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Frame, evangelists of more than twenty-five years' experience, arrived in the city, and began a crusade against sin in all its forms. They came on the invitation of the Ministerial association, of this city, which includes every prominent minister in Anderson. The meetings are held at 10 o'clock in the mornng and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, and big tent, that has a seating capacity of over three thousand, is filled at all the sessions. The associate ministers taking the most active part are Revs. Eldridge, Stew-art and Dortin, of the Methodist Church; Willson, of the Presbyterian; Black, of the the Lutheran, and Waldo, of the Congretional. It is the first time in the history of Anderson that all churches have waged a ommon warfare on the sinner. Mrs. Frame preaches every night, and her ef-forts are meeting with wonderful success. Last night there were fifty persons at the altar asking the prayers of God's people. There will be no services at the churches tomorrow night, as all will meet in a union service at the tent.

BATTLE WITH ESCAPED CONVICTS. Two Who Got Away Monday Caught Near Silver Lake.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WARSAW, Ind., July 20.-Lyman Evans and Joseph Brown, the two convicts who escaped from the Michigan City penitentiary on Monday last, were this morning captured at the home of Evans's mother, near the village of Silver Lake, this county. Sheriff Stoner and a posse proceeded to the place and discovered the convicts in a small wood. On seeing the officers they did not attempt to run, but announced that they would not be taken alive, and backed up the announcement by firing several shots at the officers, none of which took effect. The posse then surrounded them, and after ber of shots had been exchanged by ooth parties and the supply of cartridges of the escaped prisoners had become exhausted the sheriff and his men closed in on them, and after a short hand-to-hand ombat succeeded in overpowering them. They were at once brought to this city and placed in jail. They will be returned to the penitentiary to-morrow. Evans has ong been regarded hereabouts as an outlaw, and was sent up from this city a few months ago for highway robbery. Brown was recently sent to the prison from Fulton county on a similar charge.

ROMANCE IN PRISON.

Convict Willams, Who Died, Belonged to a New York Family.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal, JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., July 20 .- It has just developed that J. R. Williams, the convict who died at the State prison on Monday, was in reality J. C. Vine, a member of a prominent and wealthy famiily of New York, whose lineage dates back to the Puritans. When quite young he came West, and, drifting into Evansville, bought a saloon, which he conducted for some time. While there he met the daughter of a prominent citizen of Henderson, Ky. The parents of the girl objected to the young people marrying on account of Vine's business, but did not discourage his calls, knowing of his excellent family re-

Soon after he eloped with the young woman and married her. After a while his s began to fail, and he moved to county. There he forged a check for $30 to procure money, and when arinder this name he was sent to the peni tentiary for three years. While there his wife visited him frequently and gave him money, but she made her parents believe that her husband was away at work. Both ounced his intention of settling down and outliving his disgrace. His term ex-pired on Thursday, June 11. Two days beore his wife came to Louisville to meet was accepted the motion for a new him on his release, but was taken sick, and was forced to return to her parents. On the day that his time expired he was also taken violently sick, and died on Monday.

His wife was notified under the name of authorities, but, of course, no reply was received. Williams was buried in the pris-on graveyard. When his wife recovered she band's whereabouts, and disclosed his real name. She was prostrated by the sad in-telligence of his death and the fact that he was buried in a convict's grave.

GAS MUST NOT BE WASTED. State Inspector Leach Says It Will

Last for Years if Husbanded. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. KOKOMO, Ind., July 20.-State Natural Gas Inspector J. C. Leach, after a thorough scientific study and four months' time spent in personal observation in the gas and oil territory of the State, takes a very hopeful view of the staying qualities of the gas and the ultimate development of an immense oil field. Professor Leach's greatest concern is in the enormous waste of the valuable fluid. This, he thinks, has more to do with the diminishing flow than the legitimate and proper use of it. All flambeaux and jumbo burners should be suppressed, and all leaky mains replaced with new ones. He says there is an enormous leakage in tributary pipe lines, millions of feet of gas being lost in that way every day. Gas com-panies hould employ men whose sole duty is to stop the leaks. Gas wells should be measured carefully and not be drawn on beyond their recuperating capacity.

"The wells ought to be measured," said he, "just as one would measure his potatoes the cellar at the approach of winter. Then you would know the exact supply on hand to draw from. The gas will not last always, but with economical use it should be with us for a number of years yet. When a man sets the time when gas shall fail he simply makes an ass of hi Speaking of the oil situation, Professor Leach expressed the opinion that a colossal reservoir of oil lies directly under the engas territory and that, as the gas gives out, the off will take its place. As fast as gas recedes the oil asserts itself, and in a few years the latter will have complete possession of the field.

AN UNKNOWN BILLIARD EXPERT. He Appeared as a Tramp and Surprised the Local Players.

comment and speculation yesterday about the billiard and pool rooms of the city regarding the playing of a very seedy-looking unknown. The man is described as a tramp, and he played a number of billiard and pool games, displaying a wonderful skill. The local experts went down before him as if they might have been novices. Attempts were made to learn who he was, but he refused to give satisfactory answers, so it is believed that he is some professional traveling in dis-guise. One of the best billiard players in the city undertook to down the stranger at the Denison pariors. The Indianapolis man was within a few points of being out, and it ooked to the crowd which had gathered as if the unknown, who had been defeating everybody, had met his match. The unknown looked at his score and coolly re-

"I need about forty-two to go out." He commenced to play in earnest, and he ran the needed forty-two points with no difficulty. The unknown, whoever he may be, is pronounced a wonder.

A CAMP IN THE RAIN

BOUGH SIDE OF SERVICE.

Many Militiamen Quartered at Statehouse for the Night-Scenes at Union Station.

Most of the troops of the Indiana National Guard went into camp at Fairview last night, in the midst of a driving, soaking rain. The downpour began at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, and until after 11 o'clock there was but slight abatement. As darkness came on the rain increased, and by 9 o'clock the only dry things in camp were the throats of the young soldiers. Although the tents furnished by the State were considered water proof, the canvass was rot priof against the incessant water-fall, and many a trooper spent the night shifting from one position to another in an effort to find a dry spot. Couriers who came to the city at 9 o'clock brought word that the camp was in a wretched condition. In many instances the water had soaked through the tents until the mud and water was snocmouth deep. Friday evening Quartermaster-general Compton had 800 bales of straw taken to the camp for bedding, and by diligent work it was protected from the rains of Friday night and yesterday morning. Each soldier brought with him, in addition to his blanket, a stout bed-tick, which he filled with straw. Those who arrived before the rain yesterday evening were able to prepare dry beds for the night. Acout eight hunared men took mess in camp last night and about half that number were able to get their tents into position before the storm. Fernaps a thousand men siept on the ground and the remainder were quartered in the Statehouse. Brigadier General Mckee, with his stall, went to the camp early yesterday afternoon and spent the night there. The six ingranapolis companies, including the two colored companies, went out at 5 o'clock, and all remained during the night, except Captain Stevenson's colored company, which was sent to its city barracks about 8 o'clock. The Indianapolis companies which braved the storm were Company A, Second Regiment, Captain H. C. Castor; Company D. Second Regiment, Captain H. T. Conde; Company H, Second Regiment, Captain farieton; Company M. second Regiment, Captain John J. Buckner, and Captain Curis s battery A.

The first detachment of the National Guard to arrive in the city was Company , Second Regiment, of Kokomo, with Captain Albert Martin in command. The con mand came in at 250 o clock over the L. 2. & W. and marched through the Station to Georgia street, where the boarded the cars. Adjutant-general Robbins and Lieutenant Colonel John H. Murphy, acting as assistant on the adjutant's staif, met the troops at the station and gave the necessary instruction. At 3:45 o'clock Company I. Second Regiment, arrived from heridan, in comand of Captain E. Green. following the Sheridan company came Company H, First Regiment, of Blooming-. C. Barcour; Company A. First Regiment, of Vincennes, Captain T. B. Couker; Company L. First Reg.ment, of Greencastle, Lieuenant Starr in command; Company K Regiment, Snelbyville, Captain J. R. Clayton; Company F. Fourth Regiment, Aurora, Captain John Backman; Company C, Second Regiment, of Anderson, Captain K. M. Burr; Company E, Second Regiment, Franklin, Captain S. B. Echols; Company First Regiment, Scottsburg, Captain J. Harrod. As fast as these detachments arrived they were hurried through the station to the street cars and transported to camp. Most of these companies came in before the severest rainfall and suffered but slight inconvenience. At 9 o'clock a messenger dashed into the Union Station with information for the Adjutant-general. The dispatches borne by the soldier were from General McKee and contained the vexatious news that the camp was flooded with water and that all other arrivals should be quartered in the city. Adjutant-general Robbins telephoned Governor Matthews and received permission to march the troops to the Statehouse. An steamed into the station bearing troops from the northern part of the State. Company L. Third Regiment, of LaPorte, with Capt. S. S. McCollum in command, alighted first and marched through the gates. Following came Company F and band of the Third Regiment, from South Bend, Company A. Third Regiment, of Knox. Capt. A. H. Knosman; Company B, Second Regi-M. H. Knosman; Company B. Second Regiment, of Rochester, Capt. A. H. Skinner; Company D. Third Regiment, of Plymouth, Capt. Adam E. Wise; completed the detachment. About this time the Second Regiment Band, of this city, arrived and ilthough it was raining flercely, the soldiers stepped briskly out of the station to the inspiring notes of one of Sousa's popular marches. The companies marched directly to the Statehouse, followed, despite the rain, by a crowd that was refused admission. At Il o'clock, the Big Four brought in a half dozen other companies belonging to the Third and Fourth Regiments and at 1:30 o'clock the remainder of the First Regiment arrived. After 9:30 o'clock none of the companies were sent to camp It was a bedraggled and disgusted-lookng set of soldiers that stacked arms at the Statehouse between 9 o'clock and midsent the natty appearance that they had hoped when they left home, and many of them felt for the first time the incon-night. The young warriors did not preveniences of camp life. But there was little grumbling among the members of the companies. Most of them were young fellows full of life and vitality, and they idered their muskets and unpacked their knapsacks and prepared to make the best of it. The baggage belonging to the regiments had been sent ahead of the companies and the men were compelled to lie on the floor without blankets. Notwith-standing the uncomfortable couch, many of the soldiers lay down and were soon sleeping soundly. Others were walking about the corridors until long after midnight. The men carried rations for one meal in the knapsack, and none suffered from hunger. At II o'clock last night Adjutant-general Robbins issued orders to the effect that the troops would start for camp at 5:30 o'clock this morning.

Lieut. Samuel W. Miller, Fifth United States Infantry, instructor of military tac-tics at Purdue University, has been ordered to report to the Governor by the Secretary of War, and will be assigned to General McKee's staff of instructors. Lieut. Thos Defrees, Fifth United States Infantry, on uty with the Adjutant-general, has also been instructed to report to General Mo-A Report of Trouble. It was reported last night that the Washngton company got into trouble at Worthngton while en route to this city. Several members of the company, it is said, become intoxicated, and one man was injured just after the train left Worthington. Adjutant-general Robbins had heard nothing of the trouble last night.

Services at Camp. Rev. G. A. Carstensen, chaplain of the scond Regiment, will hold services in
